Oak, harness sport will become American in name and in fact.

Let not the owners of harness horses be discouraged. All the world is not in the large clites, nor all the people who wish to see good races. But it is safe to say that nine-tenths of that class of patrons whose operations at the race tracks have tended to bring about the protests which have jeopardized so many associations and sent as many more to bankruptcy, are there, and attend the races not for love of speculation.
